

WEEKLY UPDATE
	FACULTY UPDATES
Monday	Faculty Development Conference This week, Matthew Collins, Naim Kapucu, Stephanie Krick, and Bob Morin are attending the Summer 2007 Faculty Development Conference concluding on Thursday, May 3rd. This conference provides faculty with the opportunity to work with peers from across the university, staff from various support offices, and guest speakers from outside the UCF community. Special topics of this intensive four-day conference include: diversity initiatives, information fluency, international/interdisciplinary studies, internships, and service-learning.
Tuesday
Wednesday	Dr. Lawther Publishes in Handbook of Transportation Policy The Handbook of Transportation Policy and Administration has been published. It is edited by Jeremy Plant, Penn State at Harrisburg. Dr. Lawther has authored two of the chapters in the Handbook: "Intelligent Transportation Systems: Evolution and Impact" and "Privatization of Transportation Systems."
Departmental Meeting ASPA Meeting 5 – 7 PM
Thursday	STUDENT UPDATES
Graduation Ceremony HPA II - 247 7:15 AM	American Humanics Students Win Stipends Congratulations to Amber Myers-Ferguson, Patricia Holloway, and Ana Defillo for being awarded $4500 internship stipends. This nationally recognized honor was presented by the Next Generation Nonprofit Leaders Program (NextGen Program), an American Humanics initiative funded through a generous grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. These three students were among those selected by a panel of national nonprofit leaders from student applications from more than forty AH affiliated colleges and universities.
Friday	Night At the Alley a Success The fundraising event "Night at the Alley" presented by the American Humanics Student Association and the Collegiate Chapter of Association of Fundraising Professionals at UCF was a hit! Local nonprofit professionals and students had fun together as they showed off their bowling skills for this first annual event. Congratulations to Jeff Taylor for winning "Highest Average Score." Twenty percent of the funds raised during the event went to two participating nonprofits. Other funds raised at the event will go toward student travel to national conferences. A special thanks goes to our sponsors: The McKenna/Dullea Family, www.goMaxtel.com, Public Bank, Voice One Data, Vassel Communications Group, Community Service Center of Central Florida, and The Conley Family.
	UPCOMING EVENTS
	Central Florida ASPA Chapter Annual Meeting May 2nd The meeting will be held at the Orlando Sheraton on Wednesday, May 2nd from 5-7 PM. Please RSVP by going to cflaspa@yahoo.com